

Congratulations! You (hopefully) survived your first foray into the world of D&D! So now that you've got your first game under your belt, what's next?

1. Complete your survey: You will receive an event survey from us via email. Please fill it out, your feedback is critical for improving our community.
2. Register a character: You can use a template matching the character you played tonight or pick all the options yourself. Then you can apply tonight's session to that character. Way to go adventurer, you just levelled up!
3. Find more games: All of our games labelled L1 - LX are newbie friendly. Sign up to any of these and if you know what character you are playing assign them to the event. This lets everybody (including the DM) know what character you will be playing. If you are at all nervous just let your DM know that you are new to the game, and they will provide any guidance you need
